Guests were the Mesdames Jean Dickinson, Elvira Louise Gilman, Mary Davis, Gladys DeBerry, Marion Guse and Georgia Cameron.

CANADIAN CHIC

THE name is Abolistic. It's unusual and so is the original color-fast cotton in this spectacular sport dress. It's matching hat, independent, gay French notes of Quebec. Field flowers that are the Canadian province appear in the bright borders. Friman Bailey designed the fabric. It's the expert who sees every year, for fashion inspiration to some spot where the natives still retain a fresh, primitive, natural quality in their dress.

This year he has done a whole collection of Quebec-inspired clothes.

Senior Women to Hold Traditional Breakfast Sunday

Miss Dorothy Roper will read the prayer for senior women of the University of Wyoming tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock when the traditional senior women's breakfast will be held in the banquet hall of the Wyoming union.

There are approximately 85 women in the class this year who plan to attend the breakfast, a tradition which was begun in 1915.

Special guests will be Mrs. J. L. Merrill, wife of the president of the University and Mrs. Lucella Galliver, dean of women.

In addition to the prayer the women will be entertained with the annual candle and lemon ceremony.

The committee in charge of the affair includes the members of the Y. W. U. and Misses Mrs. Elsie Bess and Miss Mary Alice Erwinge. Miss Bess is in charge of the lemon and Mrs. Erwinge of the food.

Casper Man Gets DSC Medal for Unusual Bravery

CASPER, June 6 (AP)—Raymond Jeffrey, 21, second class petty officer in the United States navy, has received the distinguished service cross for his gallantry yesterday, it was disclosed here today.

Jeffrey, a graduate of St. Joseph high school in Denver, received the recognition for carrying a communications line from his ship to high school in Denver Harbor. Ray jumped into the water during the attack, completed the mission after several other sailors had attempted it. He was awarded the cross for his heroism.

The communications line had been broken during the engagement.

Another incident also was recalled. Sometime after Pearl Harbor, somewhere at sea, the plane in which Jeffrey was flying was shot down. The pilot was injured and Jeffrey took him from the wreckage and in attempting to save a life he lost one himself. For an undetermined time, Ray kept himself and his pilot afloat, helped the pilot die. The pilot died in a guarded keepcase.

Jeffrey is home on furlough for 30 days. He has shown little disposition to speak regarding his experiences. He was a personal friend and buddy of Billy Jones, Casper's first casualty in the war who was shot down.

"It's boys like Billy who should receive the medals," Jeffrey said.

Jeffrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jeffrey of Casper.

Japs Will Grow Food on Heart Mountain Project

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The war relocation authority said today that 10,000 Japanese-American evacuees to be moved in to the Heart Mountain relocation area near Cody, Wyo., would be set to work immediately developing the land for irrigation and vitally needed food crops.

"As soon as community construction is finished and the evacuees are moved in," said Mr. S. Eisenhower, WRA director, "field crews will start leveling the land, and building more canals and levees. By fall water should be available for nearly 10,000 acres, and by spring a considerable portion of this acreage should be worked down and ready for crop production."

The project is located within the Shoshone reclamation project, mainly on public land. Eisenhower emphasized that the evacuees would work the soil directly under WRA supervision, "and will not obtain any rights or interests in the land."

Food crops raised by the evacuees, Eisenhower added, would be used in their own community kitchens and surplus production would go into the food for freedom program. The area which has a relative short growing season, is suited to production of alfalfa, sugar beets, beans, peaches, truck crops and seed peas.

WRA gave no date for evacuees to be moved into the Heart Mountain area, the sixth war-duration work center to be announced by the western defense council.
