An Inside Picture
Of Financial and Political America

From the Washington, D. C. Bureau of The Sun

WASHINGTON — Back stage conferences between government officials and private industry's spokesmen have produced a rapprochement and friendliness which may have significant consequences. If anybody less politically minded than F. D. R. occupied the presidential chair, it might head toward a coalition government.

Mr. Roosevelt's war and state spokesmen have been dicker with business men and industrialists over the problem of national defense. At their back and forth over specified difficulties they discovered the need for a closer working agreement. In two instances—radio and aviation—representatives of private industries suggested that the government name a man to sit on their boards of directors. Under such a system they felt that they could comply more efficiently with the federal requirements.

This system prevailed in England. The idea will be presented to the president within a few weeks. It is believed to be the wish of a few men around him who understand business and industrial problems, he may accept it.

MOBILIZED—President Roosevelt recently tipped off Henry Wallace that he would introduce his government reorganization measure as soon as congress convenes next January. Mr. Wallace told a few friends, and thereby set in motion a lobby that is likely to defeat any bill for reorganizing the federal departments. It is an excellent example of how democratic government works.

Mr. Wallace's own people defect the fear for it will shift their forestry service to Harold Ickes' department. They have notified other bureaus and departments which would suffer from reorganization that they must mobilize their friends in Capitol Hill. They telephoned everybody from the army to the navy, and they don't want to become PWA slaves to the controller general's expense, who should be the thought of being thrown into Henry Morgenthau's thin fingers.

Every agency and every individual tipped off by the secretary of agriculture — or his ghost spokesman — will lobby on Capitol Hill to rebuff the president.

ISSUE—Rep. Wright Patman of Texas will return to Capitol Hill representatives next January in flagrant violation of the plank which he ran for congressional office in 1928.

Wright campaigned originally on the ground that he would serve more than 10 years in congress. In those days it was the custom for the outside-looking-in to tabulate the money which a 10-year statesman had received in salary, mileage and stationery allowances — about $150,000 for a decade of service — and to suggest that the congressional salaries be reduced up to that amount. It has been an extremely effective issue in certain districts in the west and southwest, where $150,000 in a decade is a 10-year period appears to be a political fortune.

It was thought when his golden — and now golden they were — spurs. But as his 10-year term expired he started that his office was a definite tenure on Capitol Hill would plague and defeat him. His opponent raised it, too, but it didn't stir the blue state. It was Wright's 10-year campaign to smash chain stores.

ANGLOPHILE—F. D. R. has cancelled to close friends, that he is deeply disappointed in one of his most beloved political sons—Joseph Kennedy, ambassador to the court of St. James. The latter's speech urging a live-and-let-live attitude toward the dictators sold shivers down the spine of President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull.

It's almost incredible, but private reports reaching the White House and the state department suggest that the Boston Irishman has gone pro-British. His letters to friends and his confidential messages to the state department are full of praise for the British.

NEW VIOLENCE DEALT JEWS IN GERMAN RIOTS

Government Orders Terrorism Halt; Many Jailed

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The government called a halt to a Nazi campaign of violence against Jews throughout Germany today after synagogues everywhere had been burned and their contents wrecked and thousands of Jews arrested.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, ordered destruction stopped, but indicated new official measures against Jews in relation to the assassination of a German embassy attaché in Paris by a young Polish-German Jew.

An official news agency dispatch announced that anti-Jewish outbreaks occurred in several cities and that synagogues were fired in most towns.

An report of the arrests, the official news agency explained that owners of Jewish shops in many towns were taken into custody "for their own protection."

In Austria, it was estimated from 2,000 to 2,500 Jews were arrested in Vienna alone, as part of a national roundup of Jews whose identification papers were not in order.

SCHOOL BOARD VOTE DEC. 3RD

Twelve more days remain before next January. Mr. Wallace told a few friends, and thereby set in motion a lobby that is likely to defeat any bill for reorganizing the federal departments. It is an excellent example of how democratic government works.

Mr. Wallace's own people defect the fear for it will shift their forestry service to Harold Ickes' department. Who Won? City Ballots Make Fire

Buyers Already Seek to Acquire Revenue Bonds

PORT TOWNSEND, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Primary ballots in the primary election which was held in conjunction with general election Tuesday made a fire to keep six precinct workers warm while they counted votes. It was revealed today.

And because 146 ballots were burned inadvertently, everyone here wonders who was nominated for mayor.

The ballot-counters in the fifth precinct counted 101 city primary ballots out of 247 cast before they started lighting a complete election balloting. Later, the 146 remaining city ballots were missing when they were to be counted.

One of the poll officials had placed the ballots in a stove. In six other city precincts, Mayor Percy Hilderbrand, for reelection, led Edward Quenell, by 123 votes. Quenell said he believed a complete new city primary. City officials planned to ask the state attorney general for an opinion.

REP. HILL WINS IN CLOSE RACE

On a basis of entirely complete returns in the fourth district congressional race, it was certain today that the state of Washington would again send a Democratic senator and six Democratic representatives to the next congress.

In the only close race for any of the positions, incumbent Knute Hill, Democratic congressman, today was assured victory over his opponent, Frank Miller, Republican. Hill received 57,815 votes, Miller 57,200.

In the first district, Rep. Warren Magnuson overwhelmingly defeated. Returns from 556 of the county's 570 precincts gave him 82,246 against 82,507 for Matthew Hill.

The second district re-elected Rep. Conrad Wallgren; third district re-elected Rep. Martin Smith; fifth district against elected Rep. Charles Leary; and John Carter was returned to congress by the sixth district.

As returns continued to come in, Sen. Homer T. Bone piled up a bigger margin over Ewing D. Collins, his Republican opponent.

Warner Holds To Slim Lead

SEATTLE, Nov. 10.—(UP)—This county's closest ballot race—Agnew's early lead today with 656 of the county's 694 precincts reported, Warner has achieved a lead of 532 vote. The tally war, Warner, 81,167; Agnew, 80,615.

WATER RATES WON'T CLIMB, CASAS INSISTS

Buyers Already Seek to Acquire Revenue Bonds

The $200,000 issue of revenue bonds for the city water department, authorized by the voters Tuesday, will not force an increase in water rates, City Commissioner Casas insisted today.

Asked about possibility of a water rate increase being forced on the city to obtain sufficient funds to retire the proposed bonds, Casas said:

"Not a chance."

He revealed simultaneously that three Seattle investment firms already have sought information from City Clerk E. J. McCall regarding the bonds. They are eager to submit bids, he said, adding that the bonds probably will be sold to private investment firms rather than to the government.

Favors Lower Rate

If any rate adjustment is to be made by the water department during the next year, Casas expressed hope it would be downward. Pointing out that considerably more water was used in 250 Bremerton homes when special sprinkling rates were put into effect last summer, Casas said:

"We have plenty of water, and we want folks to use as much as they desire. The trouble has been that the water used is too small to get sufficient water into the city. The $200,000 improvement project, which the bond issue would fund, will remedy that situation, and we hope to adjust rates so that a greater amount of water may be used at no increase in the monthly cost to the subscriber."

fund is in "Red" Although the water department fund is at present approximately $200,000, Casas said, it would show a cash balance within a few months. Added expense in the department has been incident to a 10-year program of replacing water mains along the WPA in the city.

The revenue bonds authorized Tuesday are the fifth set of bonds to be approved for the water department. An issue of $125,000, made in 1929, now is being paid off by the city.
