JONES DRAWS WIDE SUPPORT

Encouraging reports have been received from all parts of the state since the nomination of Bremerton's mayor, Homer R. Jones, for state treasurer on the Republican ticket.

A group of Jones' local friends, interested in his candidacy, said offers of voluntary support had been received from every section and that polls taken to date indicate the Bremerton mayor will make a triumph over every section and that he will be elected state treasurer.

A former assistant state treasurer and also has served as Bremerton city treasurer and Kitsap county treasurer.

Jones' close association with the American Legion has placed him in good stead. He is a former state commander of the Legion and member of various posts, impressed by the Legion since established while occupying the office, are taking a leading part in his campaign.

Dr. Zinsser, Famous Bacteriologist, Dies
NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(UP)—Dr. Hans Zinsser, 61, famous bacteriologist who isolated the typhus germ and yet found time in a life of prolific research to write best-selling, died of leukemia yesterday.

Dr. Zinsser was professor of bacteriology at Harvard medical school. His books included "Rats, Lice and History," and "An I Remember Him, the Biography of a Man," which many critics thought autobiographical.

Compulsory Training: Is It Necessary?

Questions and Answers on Subject Now Being Debated in Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special)—The bill for compulsory military training and service, now under consideration by Congress, takes cognizance of the Nazi-Fascist-Communist threat to individual freedom everywhere. It provides whereby the manpower of the country can be trained and mobilized to preserve peace and the American way of life.

The high points of the program are given in the following questions and answers:

Q. Why is selective training and service necessary?
A. The United States is threatened with aggression by mightily but impoverished dictator nations. Encircled by Nazi-Fascist-Communist legions 20,000,000 strong and disarmed, the United States, with its vast natural resources and a developed industrial plant, is virtually defenseless from the military West. Hitler must have the raw materials of this hemisphere if he is to achieve his dream of world domination, and he will fight for them if necessary.

Q. How can our defenses be expanded quickly to meet this threat?
A. The only answer is compulsory military training and service. The volunteer system has failed. Army recruiting program is lagging. The nation's industrial plant can be trained with the job of building planes, guns, tanks and other material of war, but this part of the defense effort would be totally insufficient manpower is trained to employ them efficiently.

Q. How would compulsory training be put into operation?
A. Under the original bill, every man between the ages of 18 and 64 would be enrolled. Those from 21 to 45 would be eligible for eight months training when called under the selective provisions of the bill. Those physically fit from 18 to 25 and 45 to 64 would be on call for training in home guard units.

Q. How does this mean the millions of men would be called out?
A. Emphatically, it does not. Through the selective provisions of the bill, every effort would be made to prevent disruption of the normal life of the country. Those needed more in industry, research, business and agriculture than in the combat forces would go into deferred classes. This also would apply, at least during peace times, to those with dependents.

Q. How many would be called for training?
A. This would be left to the determination of the President and the War and Navy Departments subject to or on motion made by Congress. Men would be called only as needed and in proportion to the material expansion of the defense equipment. There is no sacrifice of pausing millions of men away from their jobs to have them train with bromite.

Q. Is compulsory training a move toward totalitarianism in this country?
A. It is not. The plan offers the only guarantee against aggression by dictator nations in the Western Hemisphere. In no other way can the necessary forces be mobilized and equipped quickly. Instead of being totalitarian, the program is 100 per cent democratic.

PHOTOGRAPHERS
OPEN NEW FIRM

A combination of the names of the two partners will be used to identify the newest addition to the fast-growing business district.

The Brad-Gate studio of modern art-photography marked its grand opening at 735 Pacific ave. today. It. F. Bradford and Francis Howard Gates will head the new studio, which will specialize in the newer forms of photographic art.

Gates was associated for years with the Frie MacDonald, internationally famous photographer of men in New York City, and operated his own studio, which specialized in photographs of children in the Greenwich Village section of New York. Since coming to the northwest four years ago, Gates has operated the Gateway studio in Seattle and now has chosen Bremerton as the site of his "New Deal" studio.

Bradford has been associated with Hollywood motion picture studios in the still photography division and has specialized in photographing professionals of the stage and screen. Since coming to the northwest, Bradford has taken screen tests for a talent scout bureau and will bring his knowledge of Hollywood make-up art for the still camera to his new studio. Hollywood make-up service will be offered as a part of the studio service to feminine patrons.

Bradford will act as treasurer and receptionist for the firm.
