Ban Those Musical Horns

Auto accessory dealers have stocked a new type of devil's invention that is threatening the peace and quiet of the city to an alarming degree. We refer to the so-called "musical horn." This torture device is composed of multi-flote automo-bile horns equipped with "keyboards." On it the motorists may play bugle calls or, within the limited range of the key-board, short phrases of popular tunes. The device has no practical value and no legal justification. Its discordant notes can be heard for blocks, and the voungsters who have "gone for these horns are merely indulging in a new form of exhibitionism at the expense of the nerves of the populace.

This is a matter of importance demanding the attention of the city commission, an attention it is extremely unlikely to attract until an indignant public sends delegations to put the matter before the gentlemen in the city hall.

Curbing unnecessary noises is a part of the police business of the city. If an enabling ordinance is needed, let the commission enact such an ordinance without delay.

Men To Do Our Jobs

One wonders where all the men can be obtained to per-form all the public works now under contract or projected for Bremerton and adjacent military vicinities.

If this thing were to work out logically, which it won't, all the men on WPA capable of wielding saw and hammer would go on regular employment at regular wages; all other men earning less than carpenter's wages would drop less remunerative jobs and go to work on defense housing projects;
