Time for Quick Thinking

There is always time to be right.

There is always time to be right.

The U. S. is today in much the position of Captain Flags in 'What Price Gloys' when Sergeant Quirt flung at him the exuitant and challenging 'Think fast, Captain Flags.

think fast."

On the "lease-lend" bill we must think fast. But that does not mean that we should not think at all. There is time to be right. Nothing, either in speed or clarity, is gained by savage verbal pyrotechnics assailing all who would alter the hcf by a tithe as "appeasers," or flasing those who favor the hill as interventionists already wading in blood up to the hips.

There are perfectly earnest, sincere men and women on both sides of this argument, and to impugn their sincerity is not the best tactic for their opponents to adopt. This is serious—far too serious to permit sacrificing accuracy on the altar of a phrase—as Sen. Wheeler did when he referred to "plowing under every fourth American boy." It is far too serious to answer every criticism of the bill with a piercing shriek of "Appeaser" Appeaser." shriek of "Appeaser" Appeaser" Coldly, wisely, and quickly, shriek of "Appeaser" Appeaser".

Coldly, wisely, and quickly, the American people must approach the problem laid before them here. This is definite, practical. It is of no service to wish we could render and without risk of war. As new means of extending and are devised, and that aid becomes a greater and greater factor in the struggle, the risk of being involved increases. This weighing of more effective aid against greater present risk, this weighing of less effective aid against greater future risk every man must do for himself. risk, every man must do for himself

LOOKING INTO THE PITTIEE.

10d you ever watch a man read a newspaper. Possibly one or two headlines may register as the furnisely thumbs through the paper to get at the funnies. It doesn't take a careful census complied by George Gallup to tell us people like the counts. Watching a newspaper being read is sufficient.

Acons ago in Europe lives the Cro-Magnan men. These men had very large braine and did nothing with them (as for as we can learn) except did with the counts. On the country of the future of th

"Certainly we, as Americans, who enjoy so many liberties that others do not have, and who now guard these filterities so jealously, cannot hope to maintain the respect of other nations if we do not observe the rights of others."

The navy boys who committed the thoughtless act and the crowd of several hundred who cheered them from the street below did not stop to consider the naziesque aspect of the incident. In Germany it would have been thoroughly in accord with the Hiller publicans.

the incident. In Germany it would have been induded.

But in the U. S. we still are free to speak, act and write as we please, so long as we do it within the law and not subversively to the nation's interests.

That is a right we must jealously guard, as Judge Mullins says, not abuse capriciously, as was done in this case, the state of the subversively to the nation's interests.
