Talented Children Appear at Theater
Boys and girls are encouraged to develop natural talents by Buchanan's Lone Ranger Safety Club. Each Saturday several young people receive an opportunity to perform on the stage of the Tower theater during Buchanan's Lone Ranger Club matinee.

Eighteen children known affectionately to club members as "Little Rangers" helps any boys or girls to put an act in proper form for stage presentation at the weekly rehearsal held in the Tower theater Thursday afternoon.

Boys and girls are encouraged to think for themselves by deciding upon their own type of act, rehearsing it themselves and then actually presenting it before a large audience at the Lone Ranger matinee in the Tower Theater.

Another of these matinees will take place tomorrow at 12 noon.

London Celebrates War Aid

London, March 14.—(UPI)—The British and American people today celebrated the signing of the Lend-Lease Act. Mrs. Anderson has resided at the family home for more than 50 years, having gone to Olalia with her husband, James Anderson, who died many years ago. Her early memories of Olalia recall Indian neighbors and visits from the forest near their first home.

She is living with Mrs. Anderson and her family and one grandchild, Mrs. George Anderson of Olalia, daughter, Dale, Jeanette, Dwight, Douglas and Donald Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Anderson and infant daughter, who are spending a week from Seattle with the family.

FIVE INITIATED
First and second degrees were given five new members when the Chirry Creek grange met on Wednesday evening at its Colby hall. The new members are Mrs. Bradwell and A. T. Roanoke of Port Orchard, Virgil Blankenship of Bremerton, Louis Costello of Harper and Robert E. Smith. At the next meeting two others will join the grange—Bertha Runney and Mrs. Hannah's name was not given. The first degree will be given the second officer in April. Replacing Richard Peters was elected assistant leader. The group is planning to meet in place next Mrs. Marian Walker. The group is planning to meet in place next Mrs. Marian Walker.

THIS REELS HINT FROM THE SEAGRAM HOUSE DETECTIVE

Here's how

TO LOOSEN DOORS THAT STICK
Another Service of the House of Seagram

DOORS will stick when door frames are thrown out of square by the settlement of the house. The door is sometimes adjusted by putting a piece of stiff cardboard or thin wood strip under one wing of a hinge. Or a little of the wood may need to be cut away from behind a hinge, so that it is set deeper into the door frame.

If the door is too badly stuck to be loosened by such methods, one or more of the edges must be placed off. This usually requires that the door be removed from the hinges. Edges that have been planed should be painted or varnished in order to prevent swelling through absorbing moisture.

To take off a door, open it part way, and support its outer edge by placing a block underneath. The pin that holds the two parts of a hinge together can be driven out with a hammer and screwdriver. In taking a door off, the bottom hinge should be freed first, and in putting a door back, connect the top first.

'Stop Work' Motion Fails at Boeing Co.

SEATTLE, March 14.—(UPI)—Attempts to stop work at Boeing Aircraft Co. today in protest over discharge of a union member were overruled in meetings of the Association of Machinists' local.

Roy Brown, representative of the International Association of Machinists, parent body, ruled a "stop work" motion out of order, since differences between the union and company officials could be disposed of through their working contract.

Michael Gynikas contended he was discharged because of union activity.

Son Held in $1,900 Theft from Father

RITZVILLE, Wash. March 13.—(UPI)—While P. L. Franz attended church last Sunday, his son and a companion entered his home and took $1,900, according to confessions released today by Deputy Sheriff Paul Pinger.

Sam Roetter and Arnold C. Exagy, both of Spokane, faced grand-jury charges. Roetter was arrested near Coulee City and Franz at his home in Spokane. Both were traced by serial numbers on the currency when they began spending the money.

About $1,000 was recovered in Spokane.
