

Rites at Parish House Unite Dollie Maisterek, Francis Plouf

A CANDLELIGHT CEREMONY held in a setting of tall standards of pastel-shaded snapdragons and gladioli marked the lovely wedding at which Miss Dollie Maisterek, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maisterek, of this city, repeated marriage vows with Corp. Francis X. Plouf, U.S.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Plouf, Sr. of Seattle.

The single-ring ceremony at 6 o'clock Saturday evening at the parish house of Our Lady Star of the Sea church. Flanking the altar were two many-branched candelabra holding slender white tapers. The bride was lovely in a pale pink crepe street-length gown with sunburst neckline and three-fourth length sleeves. Her accessories and hair carried out a rich brown shade and on her shoulders was an orchid corsage. For "something old" she carried a mother-of-pearl rosary. SIXTEEN ATTENDEES Mrs. Lillian Gheller, departed her sister as matron of honor, attended in a navy blue dress with white accessories and wearing a gardenia and Tulsima roses corsage. John Plouf acted as groomsmen for his brother. Mrs. Maisterek wore a blue print jacket ensemble and Mrs. Plouf was attired in a print dress. Both wore corsages fashioned of sweet peas. John Gheller, best man, fifty guests attended the wedding and reception following at the E. O. Gheller home. Featured on the bride's table was the three-tiered wedding cake, trimmed with pink roses. The bride cut the first piece, and Mrs. Maxine Fletcher cut and served the rest. Other decorations on the table consisted of a Quaker Oats display where white sweet peas and pink carnations and white tapers in silver holders. Mrs. Marguerite Hamlin served punch and Miss Ruth Despain charge of the guest book. When the newly-wed couple left on a trip to Vancouver, the bride charged to a light blue traveling suit with brown accents.

Ackerman-Cox Nuptials Read

The beautiful auditorium at Retail was the scene for an impressive wedding ceremony at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening. Tall baskets of red, rambling, rose white real lilies and blue delphinium made a lovely and appropriate background for the rites read by P. Cunningham of the U.S. Army.

Miss Jane Marie Ackerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ackerman of Tacoma Park Maryland and Staff Sgt. Daniel Cox, son of Mrs. Daniel Cox of Washington, D. C., exchanged their vows before army personnel, members of the Retail Veterans and their civilian friends. Charming in her trim suit of powder blue, white lace blouse and white accessories, the bride was given in marriage by Capt. Beall of first headquarters. Her bridal corsage was of pink rose buds and baby's breath. Mrs. John McMurrough, her only attendant, wore a dark blue suit with rust colored accessories and a corsage of yellow rose buds and baby's breath. Mrs. Marvin Ross was groomsmen for Mr. Cox.

The wedding party entered the auditorium to the strains of the wedding march played by Corp. F. B. Brown, and as they left the army military band played from the auditorium entrance. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Reed in South Retail, attended by about 60 guests. The lace-covered table was festooned with an arrangement of white roses. The all-white, four-tiered wedding cake, placed at one end of the table, was of special interest. Made by friends of the groom who are in service with him, it was decorated in white and silver and topped with a miniature military gun and traditional bride. Mrs. Reed was assisted in serving the guests by Mrs. George Kayala and Miss Joy Justesen of Bremerton had charge of the guest book. Sgt. and Mrs. Cox have now returned from a short honeymoon and are making their home in South Retail.
