TACOMA, Dec. 9. — (UP) — Nine persons suffered minor injuries today when three busses collided at a downtown intersection.

An army bus, a Tacoma Transit Co. bus and an American Lake bus, all which operated out of Tacoma, were involved in the accident.

Police said the army bus, operated by Sgt. James W. Warren, smashed broadside into the Tacoma Co. bus, turning it over. The American Lake bus, unloading passengers at an intersection, was struck by the other two vehicles.

Sgt. Warren was arrested by city police.

Most of the injured persons were believed to have been passengers on the Transit Co. bus; "Gasoline was spilled at the intersection and the rear end of the army bus caught fire but did not ignite the fuel. Firemen extinguished the blaze."

Mack, Seattle, also reported.

Nazis Will Put New Pressure On Finland

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 9. — (UP) — Finland soon will be forced to choose between making a separate peace with Russia or strengthening its collaboration with Germany, political sources said today.

The Nazis were reported annoyed by Premier Risto Ryti's address yesterday, on the 20th anniversary of Finland's independence from Russia, in which he said the Soviet Union in default would continue to be a political factor in post-war Europe.

Another issue spot in relations between Finland and Germany was the interference by Field Marshal Baron Gustav Carl Mannerheim in the scheduled declaration of political secessions, which had been agreed to by Ministers of the Interior M. Horelli and Foreign Minister Rolf Johan Witting, both known as pro-Germans.

Mannerheim's protest came late to prevent the deportation of 21 Jewish refugees sent to an unknown fate in Estonia. His veto stopped, at least for the time-being, scheduled mass deportations.

Censorship of Alaska Mail Is Disputed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. — (UP) — Director of Censorship Byron Price today defended censorship of mail between the U.S. and Alaska as a necessary exercise of general war powers.

Chairman Francis Van Nuys, Dem., ind. of the senate judiciary committee, after hearing Price in a closed meeting, believed, however, that he still believed such censorship violated the law.

He announced that department justice representatives would be called in "lastly on the matter next week."

Van Nuys said Price refused to answer questions from committee members as to what government agency had told him to process censorship of mail between the U.S. and its territories.

Talking with reporters after the hearing, Price asserted that he was convinced that powers granted to President Roosevelt to prosecute the war "certainly include the right to involve censorship between the U.S. and any combat zone whether that combat zone is in a territory or possession of the U.S."

Price did cite numerous instances, Van Nuys told newsmen, in which censoring of mail to and from Alaska had led to apprehension of persons seeking to convey military information.

I guess you know who I mean! It would be telling any secrets to admit that the girls working in our stations have been a source of a success. There's two good reasons for that. One is that they have had a real training in taking care of your car — the same kind of schooling that Standard Service Men get.

The other reason is that we've been fortunate in getting a very fine type of young lady to come and work for us. They're intelligent and hard working as well as being the kind of nice that should make Uncle Sam proud.

Incidentally, if you know of a young lady who would qualify, you might tip her off that there are still some swell openings. Your nearest Standard branch office can give her detailed information.
