U. S. Athletes Will Go To Germany, But Protest Still Rings

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(P)— The Amateur Athletic Union of the United States emerged Monday from the bitterest battle of its 47-Monday night.

Although irrevocably pledged to go through with the American Olympic program, the A. A. U. nevertheless remained wide open by an issue that is still very much alive, stirred by religious as well as racial controversy. It threatens to curtail sharply this country's part in the eleventh Olympiad.

Proof was promptly forthcoming that neither oratorical guns nor ballots killed off the main issue Sunday, when the closing session of the A. A. U. convention turned down 54 1-4 to 55 3-4 a compromise proposal to send a fact-finding commission of three men to Ger-many before going ahead with American plans to compete.

Brundage conceded that the financial condition of the American Olympic committee, which seeks $300,000 for maximum representa-tion in Germany, is "desperate." He outlined to the executive committee of the A. O. C. last night his proposals for a nation-wide drive to raise funds and to offset the expected non-cooperation of those antagonistic to Germany.

Meanwhile, most of the particip ants picked for the winter Olympic sports are arranging successfully to finance themselves.

When Southern Methorist smoth-

"Boys, I know you're tired. You've played great ball and beat some playing only three months but to me it seems like three years. You boys are champions, and it isn't necessary for me to tell you how proud I am of our record. We're proud I am of our record. We're going to break training until Monday, Dec. 16. You boys are fouloose and fancy-free for seven days. I want you to have some fun, forget football and come back to me Dec. 16 ready and eager to start Rose Bowl preparations," Bell told his champions.
Victorious Saturday at San Francisco over Santa Clara, 10 to 6, the Texas Christian Frogs were en route to Fort Worth where they will rest a week before preparing for their New Year's invasion of New Orleans to play the Louislana State team in the Sugar Bowl.

Therefore, it will be hard for me to work out any one things or any twe things to stop them or score against them."

His 60 yards touchdown run Saturday against A and M brought his total to 2 touchdowns for 72 points.
